Week 10

Math + Science

Math: We are still working with adding one to any number. In addition, we are also going to be starting coin counting! It would be AWESOME if you could challenge your child at home to count change "from your pocket". First we will do pennies, but you can get a head start at home with dimes, nickels, and quarters.

Science: We are going to be taking our second Science test this week. The topic is fish! Your child will take home a science review to "quiz" you 😊

Language Focus

We are starting a new unit! That means we will be starting to read a new anchor text and put our focus on another language developing focus.

Have you ever heard of "Character in a Bag"? Your child will be coming home with directions either on Wed. or Thurs. on how to put together a "Character in a Bag" project. They'll present during show and tell on Friday!

We have Library Wednesday!

Show and tell

This week we are going to do something that has never been done before for show and tell. Your child will bring three things in a bag to describe one character in the book, "A Cricket in Times Square". The three items all need to fit into a brown paper lunch bag. I will send home directions and a better explanation on Wednesday 😊
