We also worked on the letters j and w. We added new popcorn words to our practice, and the last set of popcorn words was sent home in homework folders. We began writing in our journals, spending time working on opinion writing.

Heintz Sight

This week in parenting class, we talked about table manners. They are not outdated! Some things that I learned are as follows: honor the host by waiting for her to sit and eat, the salt and pepper should travel together, napkins belong in laps when eating and to the side of your plate when finished. One thing that makes me squirm at a buffet, when I see young children touching the food and not taking. This is bad manners. Some fun tips to get you through the week.

Math

This week in math, we learned about ABBC patterns, divided by sharing, learned about left and right, and made designs on geoboards.

Bible Lessons around the Fire

This week we learned about Mary and Martha.
